Thank you very much for your recent emails. I have just looked at the documents you sent and have to admit that they are much too complicated for me to absorb and understand.

However, I would like to point out that, in my opinion, large scale development in this area is very undesirable because:

1. The use of green belt land has already been proposed and I am completely against this for myself, family and future generations as it will never be recovered and is absolutely essential for many reasons.
2. The South East is probably the driest region in the U.K. and we have already been forced to use water meters in an attempt to save water - an essential of life. Lots more homes will just make matters worse.
3. Covid has happened this year and, according to the media, many people who now work from home wish to do so permanently (even moving further into the countryside) so there will be many unused offices which could be converted into homes.

Please scrap this email if it's not relevant to the current situation.

Now that I am, at last, on line I would very much like to receive future information regarding the area now referred to as South Epping by email if possible.

Many thanks for the help given.

Yours sincerely

Sylvia Cottrell.
